

Company Profile

Polk&Union Digital Communication Agency

Polk&Union, a digital communication agency with offices in Rome and Seattle that specializes in integrated marketing, developing campaigns and creative content that connect brands with their audiences by means of communication projects and digital strategy.

It was named after the crossroads of the Polk and Union streets in San Francisco, where its first head office was located. Polk&Union was born in California in 2007, established by former Googler Christian Fasulo and former BCGer Alessia Sersanti. In 2011 the agency moved to Italy, where it opened its head office in Rome, then in 2019 it resumed operations in the United States with a new office in Seattle.

Innovation, progress and growth: these are the three keywords that distinguish Polk&Union's history and approach. Digital by vocation, thanks to its international DNA, since its outset Polk&Union has represented the crossing between strategy, creativity and storytelling, a virtual bridge between present and future, between Italy and the United States. From Seattle, one of the most advanced cities as regards innovation, creativity, big data, robotics and artificial intelligence, Polk&Union absorbs news and ideas directly at the source, anticipating changes and conveying them into its strategies to operate in the constantly evolving field of communications.

The agency became an established reference point in the Italian market, supporting companies, organizations and associations in 360-degree digital communications within B2B and B2C. Among its main services, Polk&Union offers Integrated Marketing Communication, Content, Digital Media and Digital Technology, in addition to those specific to the Polk&Union Health Division centered on the Healthcare & Pharma sectors.
